MartinLogan Unveils Reference In-Ear Headphones

Inspired by the sonic clarity and detail of our legendary electrostatic speakers, Mikros 70 in-ear headphones give you a private MartinLogan listening room wherever you go.

MartinLogan, the world's leader in electrostatic and Folded Motion™ loudspeaker technology, proudly announces the new Mikros 70 reference in-ear headphones. Inspired by the sonic clarity and detail of our legendary electrostatic speakers and designed by MartinLogan's in-house team, the Mikros 70 reference in-ear headphones deliver realism, richness, and purity of sound that MartinLogan's discerning customers have come to expect. With superb ambient noise isolation preserving the subtle nuances of recorded sound, listening through the Mikros 70 is like having your own private MartinLogan listening room wherever you go.

MartinLogan focused on delivering outstanding reference sound with the Mikros 70. High quality materials, drivers, and obsessive attention to detail are as much part of this new portable design as in our traditional loudspeakers. The Mikros 70 body is constructed from black anodized solid aluminum and sealed with metallic hyperblack end caps to isolate ambient noise. Features include a 90-degree gold-plated plug, tangle-reducing cable slider, and simple, yet durable, black rubberized cord that dampens and isolates noise often transmitted through contact and movement. Included with each headphone is a compact carrying pouch to assure safe stowage when traveling.

Superb Comfortable Fit

Each pair of Mikros 70 in-ear headphones includes a variety of ear tips (three sizes of bulb tips and two sizes of flange tips) for a comfortable, snug fit that isolates up to 97.8% of ambient noise and provides outstanding sound quality with deep, extended bass.

Control At Your Fingertips

The Mikros 70's in-line remote/microphone controls volume, play/pause, track selection, voice control, and allows seamless transitions between listening to music and phone calls on compatible Apple devices. The remote and microphone also function with a variety of smart phones, digital media players, and similar devices with a standard 3.5mm 4-conductor socket.

The Mikros 70 is available now, with a UK SRP of £149 inc. VAT.

UK contact for consumers is Absolute Sounds – MartinLogan's exclusive UK distributor.
